

In October 2018, Brewster's Cottonwood Villas were completed and we welcomed new residents to their beautiful and spacious homes. Just a few months before that, we celebrated the completion of the three-level parking garage north of The Evergreens. Completion of these two projects served as the preamble to breaking ground on the last phase of our expansion — the cultural arts center, indoor pool, state-of-the-art kitchen, new dining area, wellness center, expanded woodshop, salon and spa, connector bridge and Veterans Hall of Honor.

It's hard to believe, but we have reached the finish line! After years of planning, designing, meeting, coordinating, constructing and practicing all forms of patience, flexibility and grace — the dream is now reality! And while the focus seemingly has been on all things brick and mortar, the vision has always been to provide spaces and amenities to enhance the lives of Brewster's residents, staff and members. Whether it's to attend an aquatic or exercise class, build a project in the woodshop, dine with your friends, or attend a performance or class in the auditorium, providing opportunities for residents to live an optimal quality of life is always our mission.

We want to celebrate the completion of this huge project as well as show our gratitude to residents and staff who have endured many inconveniences along the way. Please join us for a special week of Grand Opening events and in-person and virtual tours! ■

CREATIVE ARTS with Kris Saia

Did you enjoy last month's Prayer Walk? We're doing it again but this time with a barnyard twist. We invite you to mosey on over to the Aspen Square (the area between Aspen Cottages and North and South Terrace) beginning Tuesday, September 1 for a dose of fresh air and Julie's Fitness Walk | Country Calisthenics!

Wellness Specialist Julie Schmanke has come up with six easy exercises you can do while you're out for a stroll under Brewster's beautiful trees. Creative Arts Coordinator Kris Saia has painted six silly signs to give you the instructions. Don't miss the Squat and Gobble! ■

Julie's Fitness Walk will move around campus during the month of September. One week at a time — Aspen Square, Brewster Health Center, The Evergreens, and Redwood.

MEADOWS SCHOOL MASK PROJECT

Who would have thought last year that our partnership with Meadows Elementary School would include sewing masks because of a pandemic? But when the pandemic arrived, we chose to get creative to help others.

Our latest project included fifteen of Brewster's resident seamstresses who have been hard at work making facemasks for the students at Meadows Elementary. Resident Ginger Cain-Davis came up with the idea and Chelsy Wessel, Wellness Case Manager, coordinated the project with the teachers at Meadows as part of Brewster's Intergenerational Program.

At last count, we have more than 350 masks that will be delivered to the kids — and more masks are still arriving at press time! Our thanks to Stitching Traditions at Brookwood, which gave us a generous discount on a huge quantity of elastic, and to Joann Fabrics, which donated fabric in kid-friendly prints. ■

ASSISTED LIVING WEEK CARING IS ESSENTIAL | SEPT 13—19

National Assisted Living Week is a nationwide event that provides a unique opportunity for residents, their loved ones, staff and the surrounding communities to recognize the role of Assisted Living in caring for American seniors and individuals with disabilities.

At a time when the entire profession is doing so much, this year's theme is "Caring is Essential." We will be honoring the essential workers and residents who make up our great Brewster Assisted Living neighborhood with fun events planned throughout the week. ■

EVERYONE HAS A STORY TO TELL BY DIANA REED, RESDIENT

Everything about Sharon Aderman is remarkable. From her beautiful smile, to her incredible sweeping greeting the feeling I had met her before.

"Hello, hello," she sang with a laugh. "I have been expecting you. I have some goodies out on the porch for us to nibble while we visit."

She ushered me into her brilliant yellow home. "I told the painters to make it look like a sunny day, and they did," she said.

A colorful seven foot tall giraffe stood in wait in the corner. Lovely sheet metal stars, made and decorated in the Caribbean, sparkle high on parts of two walls, and a baby grand piano fills a large corner space in the lovely living room. A breathtaking modern painting is proudly displayed above a blue couch on another wall. This work of art has been painted together by Sharon and her four grandchildren. It is a masterpiece!

Sharon's home is a feast for the eyes, filled with art of all kinds and types, collages, paintings and the lovely watercolors. Sharon loves to create. It is a reflection of the woman who is filled with immense love, the many places she has been, and all she has done through many years of selfless giving.

Sharon said, "I grew up in Lindsborg, Kansas. I am truly happy and blessed. The love of music and art, literature, food and writing, were born in my bones. I am upbeat and optimistic all the time." Her beauty comes from her words. She has known love all her life and she shares her gifts with everyone she meets.

"I have priceless paintings in my house, all of them painted by my family. I cherish the ones of my grandchildren the most," she said.

Sharon was married to her husband Jim for 58 years. Their happy marriage began when they met at Bethany College in Lindsborg. They traveled extensively, as Jim worked throughout the world for Goodyear International GIC. They have a son, Jeffrey, and a daughter, April, and four grandchildren. Their 20 years of travel took them to seven countries, and in each land, Sharon contributed something of herself.

"We lived in Kuala Lumpur," she said, "I established libraries and sang in the women's chorale. In South Africa I taught art classes and became a tour guide for the Goodyear Women's Club. In Venezuela, I was a permanent substitute for the International School. In Jamaica, I taught at a home for young girls. Everywhere I went, everyone I met, I kept in my heart. I have so much, so many people in my heart."

I recalled in my own memories when

Brewster had an art show. Several artists from the Brewster community displayed their art. One table was different from the rest. It was filled with buttons and loose beads, ribbons, ties and glue. People were encouraged to make their own art. The entire afternoon, this table was surrounded by men, women, and children, waiting their turn to make something.

The woman behind the table was speaking softly, encouraging people to make something of their own. She was teaching people how to make a bracelet, a pin, or a pretty paper plate to take home. People asked, "how much money does this cost, how much is this?" The woman said, "I'll help you make anything you want. You can make a necklace, I'll teach you to make a pin for your mother. It won't cost anything, take what you want, make what you want. Nothing is for sale, it's all free."

It was then I remembered how I knew this woman. Sharon was the same woman who encouraged, smiled and helped people at the Brewster Art Show. She was a sweet and happy magnet, sharing what she knew with her grace and joy.

It was remarkable — Sharon Aderman radiating love and sharing. I remembered her words, "I have so much, so many people in my heart." ■

BLESSED ARE THOSE WHO MOURN

Grieving is important for our state of mind and spiritual life. You might be thinking, “I haven’t lost a loved one or a friend.” But, as we are in the midst of Covid-19, we have lost other things that are important to us — seeing our family and friends, being a witness to a family wedding, graduation, birthday celebration, or family reunion. We have missed not being able to drink a cup of coffee or share a meal around the dinner table with friends, attend in-person church, or we feel the loss of normalcy. We need to be able to mourn, to grieve these things as well.

In Matthew’s gospel, we find the most well-known sermon of Jesus, the “Sermon on the Mount.” That discourse includes sayings that have come to be known as the “Beatitudes.” In Matthew 5:4 Jesus says, “Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted.” We are blessed when we are willing to go through our loss and the grief process as we let God comfort us.

Coping with loss, whatever that loss may be, can be one of the hardest things we ever face. When we experience a loss, our grief can be particularly intense. Loss is understood as a natural part of life, but we can still be overwhelmed by shock and confusion, leading to prolonged periods of sadness or depression. The sadness typically diminishes in intensity as time passes, but grieving is an important process in order to overcome these feelings.

Everyone reacts differently to loss. Research shows that most people can recover from loss on their own with time if they have social support and healthy habits. Though it may take months or years to come to terms with a loss, there is no “normal” time period to grieve.

According to Katherine C. Nordal, Ph.D., we cannot expect our grief to come in phases. New research now suggests that most people do not go through stages as progressive steps. In addition, research tells us that mourning a loss takes time, but it can be the catalyst for a renewed sense of meaning that offers purpose and direction to life.

Dr. Nordal gives the following strategies to help come to terms with loss as you go through the grieving process:

Talk about your loss with friends and colleagues in order to understand what is happening or what has happened. Denying the loss is an easy way to isolate.

Accept your feelings. People experience all kinds of emotions after a loss; sadness, anger, frustration and even exhaustion are all normal.

Take care of yourself. Eating well, exercising, and getting plenty of rest help us get through each day and move forward.

Reach out and help others dealing with loss. Helping others has the added benefit of making you feel better as well. Show acts of kindness to others who are also experiencing a loss.

Remember and celebrate life. Possibilities include take a walk outside, be in awe of God’s creation, take pictures of what you see happening around you, or journal about the new normal. What you choose is up to you. If you feel stuck or overwhelmed by your emotions, it may be helpful to talk with a professional who can help you cope with your feelings and find ways to get back on track.

If you are experiencing loss especially during Covid-19, allow yourself to grieve, to mourn. Remember, God promises to comfort you. “Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted” (Matthew 5:4). ■

QIGONG EXERCISE WITH LYNN VAN BUREN

Tuesdays and Thursdays, September 22, 24, 29 and October 1 | 10:50 am | Winchell Wellness Center

Lynn has been studying, practicing, and teaching this ancient Chinese energy system for more than 20 years. In this course, he will be introducing “Bone Marrow Cleansing” and “Standing Meditation” (with seated option)—two of many exercises and meditations that stimulate the flow of qi, or life energy.

Bone Marrow Cleansing is a short, simple self-healing form that is reported to improve the immune system as well as strengthen the bones. It may even help prevent cancer.

Standing Meditation (which can be practiced while seated) is a fundamental practice in Qigong, a breathing meditation that, when practiced regularly, can clear the mind and stimulate the circulation of the qi. As you practice the 5 different arm positions, you may notice how the energy flow moves within the body.

TALK ABOUT LITERATURE IN KANSAS BOOK GROUP

Tuesday, September 29 | 2:00 pm | Chapel

We have chosen the book series called After the Fact. This series looks at events in our lives are so pivotal that once they occur everything changes. The Great Depression, World War II, and 9/11 represent large-scale cultural events while marriage, job loss, and major illness serve as more intimate examples. This series is about the changes that happen during and after major traumas. The books in this series take on the topics of war, illness, and murder. Each author depicts the transformations shaped by the main characters due to a variety of stressors and how the character handles the change. Over the next 3 months we will read and discuss the following books:

- The Things They Carried by Tim O’Brian (1990)
- Station Eleven by Emily St. John Mandel (2014)
- The Hate U Give by Angie Thomas (2017)

Please call Jamie Fritz at 274-3398 to borrow copies of these books.
